Tomb of the Unknowns

More than 4 million people visit hallowed memorial each year. D/2 is used to keep its Yule Marble looking flawless.

Iowa Monument

D/2 has been used to clean thousands of monuments across the country, preserving our history for future generations.

Museum of Science & Industry

There's no job too big for D/2. The ornamented facades of this 400,000 sq ft Chicago Landmark were cleaned from top to bottom with D/2.

Congressional Cemetery

During its restoration of the 168 Benjamin Latrobe designed sandstone cenotaphs, the National Park Service chose D/2 to do the cleaning.

Heinrich Heine Memorial

The Heinrich Heine Memorial, also known as the Lorelei Fountain was designed and fabricated in Germany for erection in Dusseldorf. It ended up on the Grand Concourse in The Bronx in NYC where it was moved several times and heavily vandalized.

The Alamo

Texans take the Alamo seriously. So, it's no small thing that they choose D/2 to keep it looking its best.

White House

The National Park Services trusts D/2 to keep America's iconic White House looking white.

Veterans Administration

D/2 is used by the VA to clean over 3.5 million headstones each year.

Wright's Taliesin Studio

Frank Lloyd Wright's Taliesin estate is a shrine to many architects. Staff there use D/2 to combat biological growth.
